According to Girard, the substitution of an immolated victim for the first, is "the very first symbolic sign created by the hominids. The discontinuities would never be of such a nature as to demand some kind of sudden intellectual illumination. Wolfgang Palaver adds Alexis de Tocqueville to the list. William Abshire--A The End of Sacrifice: Poststructuralism in Continental Philosophy. Thus reciprocal violence is eliminated by the sacrifice, obligations of vengeance by the gift, and finally the possibly dangerous gift by "economic rationality. This fundamental focus on mimetic desire would be pursued by Girard througho Girard's theory is true, then we will find in myths the culpability of the victim-god, depictions of the selection of the victim, and his power to beget the order that governs the group.
